

Louisa Clarke

Having trained at the Royal Academy of Music, Louisa Clarke originally worked as a professional actor musician, touring extensively and working in theatre, radio and film. She later returned to full time study at the Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, where she gained an MFA in Voice Studies, passing with Distinction. She went on to freelance as a Voice, Speech, Text and Dialect coach both on production and in many of the UK's top drama schools before taking up a full-time position as a Lecturer in Voice at Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama.

With a background in both voice and singing, Louisa has worked in a hybrid role in her coaching career, providing vocal support for productions with National Theatre Wales, the Royal Shakespeare Company, and the BBC.